The Passion Report measures employee passion across the entire organization. It lets you know where people see themselves among 5 different levels of passion – from “passionate about the job and organization” to “disconnected from the job and organization.”

The Values That Build Trust chart shows you what trust-building values employees believe to be important to them, and also the level to which they think the organization operates by these values.

LEVEL 5 Passionate about the job and the organization

LEVEL 4 Passionate only about the job

LEVEL 3 Passionate only about the organization

How important are the needs in the Passion Index to each employee?
 How do they feel the organization measures up in meeting those needs? What's the gap?

TOTAL EMPLOYEE PASSION GAP: 18.0
